DETAILED ACTION

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 102

1. The following is a quotation of the appropriate paragraphs of 35 U.S.C. 102 that form the basis for the rejections under this section made in this Office action:

A person shall be entitled to a patent unless --

(b) the invention was patented or described in a printed publication in this or a foreign country or in public use or on sale in this country, more than one year prior to the date of application for patent in the United States.

An anticipation under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) or 102(e) is established when a single prior art reference discloses, either expressly or under principles of inherency, each and every element of a claimed invention. See RCA Corp. v. Applied Digital Data Systems, Inc., 730 F.2d 1440, 221 USPQ 385 (Fed. Cir. 1984).

It is well settled that the law of anticipation does not require that the reference teach what appellant is teaching or has disclosed, but only that the claims on appeal "read on" something disclosed in the reference, i.e., all limitations of the claims are found in the reference. See Kalman v. Kimberly Clark Corp., 713 F.2d 760, 218 USPQ 781 (Fed. Cir. 1083). Moreover, it is not necessary for the applied reference to expressly disclose or describe a particular element or limitation of a rejected claim word for word as in the rejected claim so long as the reference inherently discloses that element or limitation. See, for example, Standard Havens Products Inc. v. Gencor Industries Inc., 953 F.2d 1360, 21 USPQ2d 1321 (Fed. Cir. 1991).

2. Claims 1-7, 13-24 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 102(b) as being anticipated by Scheicher (4,197,645). Scheicher discloses, in figs.1-4 and 13-18, a drill head and bone drill which could be used as a milling apparatus for preparing surfaces of two opposing vertebral bodies to accept a predetermined shape of an endoprosthesis, comprising: a drill head 11, a rotary form cutter 5, a drive means 40, elongate housing 3, said form cutter has a convex shape, a groove, and provided with a beveled gearing surface 37, the height of profile of the form cutter is approximately 9 mm, as disclosed in col. 17, line 56, said drive means having a pinion gear 39, and said cutter having a support shaft 8 which forms an angle approximately 96 degrees to the drive means. (angle approximately 96 degrees which generally could be 90 degrees).

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

3. The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

(a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negated by the manner in which the invention was made.

The examiner recognizes that references cannot be arbitrarily combined and that there must be some reason why one of ordinary skill in the art would be motivated to make the proposed combination of primary and secondary references. In re Nomiya, 184 USPQ 607 (CCPA) 1975. However, there is no requirement that a motivation to make the modification be expressly articulated. The test for combining references is what the combination of disclosures taken as a whole would suggest to one of ordinary skill in the art. In re McLaughlin, 170 USPQ 209 (CCPA 1971). References are evaluated by what they suggest to one versed in the art, rather than by their specific disclosures. In re Bozek, 163 USPQ 545 (CCPA) 1969.

4. Claims 8-12 are rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Scheicher in view of Tschudin (4, 781,072). Scheicher disclose the inventions substantially as claimed. However, Scheicher does not discloses the drive comprising a belt. Tschudin teaches , in fig. 6 and col.10, lines 1-7, a bone drill having a belt 175. Therefore, it would having ordinary skill in the art at the same time the invention was made, in view of Tschudin, to modify the invention of Scheicher having a drive means including a belt in order to drive the invention with a belt.

Response to Arguments

5. Applicant's arguments filed on 4/17/00 have been fully considered but they are not persuasive.

Applicant argues that Scheicher (patent No. 4,197, 645) disclose a bone drill apparatus that can not be used as a milling apparatus for prepare surface of two opposing vertebral bodies to accept a predetermined shape of an endoprosthesis as claimed in the present invention. However, it not found convincing because as point out in the above rejection. Scheicher teaches a bone drill apparatus comprising all limitations substantially as claimed in claims 1-7, 13-24. The functional recitation that “a milling apparatus for prepare surface of” has not been given patentable weigh, because it is narrative in form. In order to be given patentable weight, a function recitation must be express as a “means” for performing the specified function, as set forth in 35 USC 112, 6th paragraph, and must be supported by recitation in the claim of sufficient structure to warrant the presence of the functional language. In re Fuller, 1929, C.D 172; 388 O.G. 279. it has been held that the term “ integral” is sufficiently broad to embrace constructions united by such means as fastening and welding . In re Hottle, 177 USPQ 326, 328 (CCPA 1973). Moreover, It also has been held that a recitation with respect to the manner in which a claimed apparatus is intended to be employed does not differentiate the claimed apparatus from the prior art apparatus satisfying the claimed structure limitations. Ex parte Masham, 2 USPQ2d 1647 (1987).

Conclusion

6. THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the mailing date of this final action.

Art Unit: 3731
